Fight over internet handover to ICANN goes right down to the wire

http://www.theregister.co.uk/2016/09/08/fight_over_internet_handover_down_to_wire/

When people wake up to the possibility of losing a freedom, such as the freedom of speech, wonderful things can and do happen!! Why it's important to be a VOICE when something is wrong!!

The US government's plan to hand over control of critical internet functions at the end of the month is heading for an extraordinary showdown next week, as Congress debates whether to block it.

The current IANA contract is due to expire on September 30, at which point the organization that has run the contract for the past 20 years, ICANN, will take it over.

But some in Congress, most notably Ted Cruz, are opposed to the transition, claiming that it will effectively give countries like China, Russia and Iran greater say over the internet's functioning. Cruz is making a last-ditch effort to halt the deal, and has so far succeeded in bringing along a number of other skeptical Republicans.

Cruz took to the Senate floor on Thursday to decry the plan. "Today our country faces a threat to the internet as we know it," he argued.

"In twenty-two short days, if Congress fails to act, the Obama administration intends to give away the internet to an international body akin to the United Nations."

Senator John Thune has also been a frequent critic of the transition and of the organization due to take the reins, ICANN. As chair of the Senate Commerce Committee, Thune is in a position to put up an effective roadblock. Twice in the past, his committee has played a key role in placing riders on financial bills that prevent the US Department of Commerce (DoC) from using any funds to support the IANA transition.

What exactly will happen if ICANN doesn't get its way by September 30

What happens if the IANA contract is renewed and the transition doesn't occur on September 30?

Well, that all depends on what happens with the presidential elections. The official Republican platform has taken a very strong position against the IANA transition, meaning that a President Trump would almost certainly seek to prevent it from happening.

Hillary Clinton's position is less clear, although it is likely she supports the current administration's position and would probably push for the transition to take place.

The other big factor, of course, is what happens with Congress. If the Republicans lose either the House (unlikely) or the Senate (possible), then the IANA transition could sail through in a year's time with the details largely unchanged. If the Republicans retain control of both Houses, the transition is likely dead – at least in its current form.

As you can see there is still a fight going on to keep from turning over the internet – but where you need to really pay attention to is GOOGLE and FACEBOOK.....these two companies have MORE influence and power and are both working very hard to compromise all of your freedoms. They are an ELITE tool used by the adversary!!!

A pilot project launched by Google's startup incubator and a British IT company will target potential Islamic State recruits – and also the American far right – with new software that pairs violence-related search entries with anti-extremism ads.

Islamic State (IS, formerly ISIS/ISIL) has made extensive use of online and social media platforms to spread its vision of radical Islam or lure recruits to wage jihad in Syria and Iraq.

Now the world's largest search engine has announced an unconventional project that aims to help counter extremists' propaganda messages and de-radicalize those in danger of falling under their influence.

Jigsaw, a technology incubator run by Google, has teamed up with London-based startup Moonshot CVE to design technology capable of redirecting a potential Islamist browsing for IS-related words and phrases to creative anti-extremist messages or videos.

“In the UK, if someone in their Facebook profile picture has a swastika and is pointing a gun at the camera, that person is committing a crime. In the US, there is absolutely nothing wrong with that.”

While the project team admits that it is difficult to evaluate the qualitative results so far, it insists it could be a powerful anti-extremism tool in future.

The Jigsaw project to date includes 30 ad campaigns and 95 unique ads in English and Arabic, but the de-radicalization effort will not be limited to Islamic State.

In a second phase – set to begin later this year – Moonshot CVE and US-based company Gen Next are planning to deploy the same technology to blunt far-right messages in North America.

“The interesting thing about how they behave is they’re a little bit more brazen online these days than ISIS fan boys,” Ross Frenett, co-founder of Moonshot, told the Intercept.

MIND
FACILITY

According to the WHO, those who question "science" and "experts" are chopped up into three categories: a vaccine refuser, a vaccine skeptic or a vaccine denier. Each one of the three labels, according to the WHO, can be found on what they call the vaccine "hesitancy continuum." The "vaccine denier" refers to "a member of a subgroup at the extreme end of the hesitancy continuum."

The WHO refers to those that don't believe in vaccines or question their effectiveness and safety "adversaries." The document concludes with a chapter titled "How to Protect Yourself." The chapter warns "In extremely rare circumstances your personal safety and security may be compromised by your pro-vaccination viewpoint." Furthermore, the WHO document cautions the public health official to "Be aware that your evidence and opinion may put your personal safety in jeopardy."

Probability to change one's mind to vaccine acceptance

Overall the document reads like a military PSYOPS manual on how to properly craft and deliver specific messaging to a conquered enemy force. Given the massive amounts of scientific corruption, conspiracy "facts" and political revolving doors with vaccine manufacturers (i.e. Julie "Merck" Gerberding), the WHO's document is glimpse to a future where forced medicine, directed by drug manufacturers, will give the public no quarter. At face value, the instructions and wording are just plain creepy in our current atmosphere of eroding health freedom. Furthermore, it is important to keep in context that just six months before this document's release, the WHO was caught (in their own internal emails) in a coordinated effort to mislead investigators and fraudulently conceal the dangers of the human papilloma virus vaccine.

Camp Hero Base in Montauk, NY.

Montauk is the site of Camp Hero, the military base where the infamous and widely speculated Montauk Project took place.

The events on Long Island have come to be known as The Montauk Project. This phrase refers to a series of top-secret experiments in mind control, time travel, psychotronics, and the creation of black holes. These experiments were based out of an old Air Force radar station, or more accurately, in a vast complex hidden in the earth beneath this radar station.

Apparently there are many levels beneath ground that were used for research and the base was really a cover-up. Some people say it is absolutely documented that there is a subterranean city beneath the base that is still being used today by secret branches of the military. People say that the radar equipment was built as a cover up so that the military could conduct experiments in time travel and mind control and this is what all the electronics equipment was for. The Montauk Air Force Station was said to have carried out numerous terrible experiments in cooperation with many research laboratories on Long Island. Apparently, this base was also in cooperation with Mitchell Air Force Base on Long Island.

According to legend, the base actually lost its funding in the late 1960s because the radar technology was obsolete, but was open until 1983. The area is now a New York state park, but the buildings are intact and radar equipment remains standing. Also, from what I learned, what is really strange is that while the government gave the land to the state, it still owns the land beneath the base.

The first phase of government mind control development grew out of the old occult techniques which required the victim to be exposed to massive psychological and physical trauma, usually beginning in infancy, in order to cause the psyche to shatter into a thousand alter personalities which can then be separately programmed to perform any function (or job) that the programmer wishes to to "install".

Each alter personality created is separate and distinct from the front personality. The 'front personality' is unaware of the existence or activities of the alter personalities. Alter personalities can be brought to the surface by programmers or handlers using special codes, usually stored in a laptop computer. The victim of mind control can also be affected by specific sounds, words, or actions known as triggers.

The second phase of mind control development was refined at an underground base below Fort Hero on Montauk , Long Island (New York) and is referred to as the Montauk Project. The earliest adolescent victims of Montauk style programming, so called Montauk Boys, were programmed using trauma-based techniques, but that method was eventually abandoned in favor of an all-electronic induction process which could be "installed" in a matter of days (or even hours) instead of the many years that it took to complete trauma-based methods.

PSYCHOTRONICS – COINED BY ZDENEK REJDAK – TO DEFINE WEAPONS THAT CONTROL THE HUMAN MIND, WHERE SPECIAL ELECTROMAGNETIC RADIATIONS ARE USED.

DR. PAT FLANAGAN, KNOWN FOR HIS WORK ON THE 'NEUROPHONE' WHICH SENDS MESSAGES DIRECTLY TO THE BRAIN – HIS WORK IS CONTROLLED BY THE NSA.

ELECTROMAGNETIC SATELLITE TECHNOLOGY

THE NEUROPHONE:US Patent # 3,393,279.

July 16th, 1968

It's a device that converts sound to electrical impulses sometimes called the "Voice of God" or makes the person think he is crazy. When the signals are sent to the brain, it makes a person think that God is speaking to him/her or even an "alien." It targets the unique bioelectrical resonance frequency using his "vibrational pattern" in the brain called a "signature" and it acts like an audio receiver.

THE PSYCHO-ACOUSTIC PROJECTOR:

U.S. patent #3,566,347, (23/2/71)

A device/weapon which can actually deafen the target.

SILENT SUBLIMAL MESSAGES: US Patent # 5,159,703. October 27th, 1992

Non aural carriers in extreme audio frequency ranges are amplified or modulated with the desired material and propagated acoustically for direct inducement into the brain. This is an excellent method of influencing people without their knowledge and is used in advertising.

METHODS AND SYSTEMS OF ALTERING CONSCIOUSNESS:

US Patent # 5,123,844. June 23rd, 1992

US Patent # 5,289,438. February 22nd, 1994

These systems stimulate the brain with different frequencies and wave forms to alter the subject's state of consciousness.

Electro Magnetic Field (EMF) monitoring/interference is one of the most insidious and secretive of all methods used by the agencies.

Psychotronic Weapons

Long Range Acoustic Device

Sound waves have the potential to deal tremendous damage at loud enough amplitudes – think about a sonic boom, for instance. But you don't need a jet engine to turn sound into a weapon. The Long Range Acoustic Device is a creation of the American technology Corporation that was originally designed to defend safe zones around boats. It produces an incredibly loud noise that can travel almost 1000 feet in a targeted beam, and if the frequency is amplified enough it can cause legitimate physical pain in its victims.

Distributed Sound And Light Array Debilitator

The most effective sensory weapons are ones that can engage and disorient multiple methods of input as well. Colloquially known as the “puke ray,” the Distributed Sound And Light Array Debilitator generates sound and light in a specific sequence designed to overload the brain’s processors, generating feelings of unease and discomfort. Prolonged exposure can result in even more unpleasant effects, including nausea and vomiting. Some scientists are even working towards producing a portable version the size of a flashlight that can be used on an individual basis.

MEDUSA

One of the most interesting sensory weapons on the market uses audio to disorient and confuse targets, but it skips the ear entirely. MEDUSA, a product of the Sierra Nevada Corporation, doesn't create sound in a conventional way. Instead, it uses pulses of microwave radiation to generate shockwaves inside the skull that are detected by the ears from within – so earplugs won't help you at all. It can generate painful white noise and even recognizable speech that sounds like it's coming from the inside of your brain. Scary stuff.

Is Drone Swarm Technology (Locust) A Harbinger Of Revelation 9?

A photograph showing a swarm of six drones flying in a loose formation against a blue sky with light clouds. The drones are black and have four arms with propellers. They are positioned at various heights and angles, creating a sense of movement and coordination.

Drone swarms are about to change the face of modern warfare and some prophecy watchers find both the technology and name of the US Naval program behind it perhaps more than coincidence. The US navy recently demonstrated its Low-Cost UAV Swarming Technology (LOCUST) program by putting 30 drones flying together in perfect formation.

What makes the swarm unique is that any hostile aircraft, manned or unmanned, can be brought down by a single missile, but a swarm can take multiple hits and keep going. The drones are self-reconfiguring so that if one drone gets taken out, the others autonomously change their behavior to complete the mission.

A swarm of six black quadcopter drones is shown flying in a blue sky with light, wispy clouds. The drones are arranged in a loose, scattered pattern across the frame. Each drone has four arms extending from a central body, and they appear to be in motion, with some blurred wings suggesting flight. The lighting is bright, and the overall scene is clear and focused on the drones.

Several test simulations by the Navy have shown that drone swarms are consistently able to get past ship defenses that are geared towards shooting down single planes. This weakness means it makes sense to attack an enemy ship with a large number of cheap drones rather than one missile costing the same. Ironically, the best counter to drone swarm attacks being studied is a defensive drone swarm that can intercept the offensive ones.

IS POKEMON A PSYOP?

http://www.thedailysheep.com/pokemon-go-is-an-orwellian-cia-government-surveillance-psyop_072016

Lots of apps have sketchy privacy policies, that's nothing new. But the first set of alarms go off as soon as you realize that Pokémon Go's policy does seem a bit more liberal than most, because not only are you giving Pokémon Go access to your location and camera, you're also giving it full access to your Google account (assuming you use that to sign in).

We may disclose any information about you (or your authorized child) that is in our possession or control to government or law enforcement officials or private parties.

As TechCrunch explained, Pokémon-loving millennials are far less likely to object to a few extra permissions when its Squirtle staring them in the face as they abandon their every g-given freedom than they do when Google reads their email.

And it's not like Pokémon Go itself doesn't already have a direct(-ish) line to the CIA.

<https://carm.org/what-is-pokemon>

Is Pokemon dangerous? Potentially, yes it is. It conditions the child who plays the game into accepting occult and evolutionary principles. Haunter can hypnotize, eat a person's dreams, and drain their energy. Abra reads minds. Kadabra emits negative energy that harms others. Gastly induces sleep. Gengar laughs at peoples' fright. Nidoran uses poison. The Psychic type of Pokemon are among the strongest in the game. Charmander, Haunter, Ivysaur, Kadabra, and many more evolve. The children are taught to use these creatures to do their will by invoking colored energy cards, fights, and commands. Much of it is reminiscent of occult and eastern mysticism.

<https://carm.org/what-is-pokemon>

- ◆ On the Pokemon rules website it states, "Carry your Pokmon with you, and you're ready for anything! You've got the power in your hands, so use it!"
- ◆ One observer of children playing the game said the children would afterwards mimic the game by summoning the Pokemon to attack others. This is occultic.
- ◆ Pokemon are summoned to do battle and to protect. This is equivalent to sorcery.
- ◆ Earth, Wind, Fire, and Water are frequent elemental themes found in Pagan religions, witchcraft, and Wicca, and are used heavily in Pokemon.

We're all government pawns

So what exactly is the New World Order planning to do with our precious and meticulously collected data? They could take a few different paths, though they all boil down to the fact that we're all cogs in Professor Willow's great, big government machine.

Considering that one of Big Brother's favorite pastimes is watching its citizens at all times always and forever, Pokémon Go is an ideal vessel for its many, many eyes. It's addictive (kids, adults, and conspiracy-loving bloggers for Gawker.com can't seem to put the thing for more than ten minutes at a time). And it has access to pretty much our entire phone, meaning tons of personal data and monster tracking capabilities:

Has 'Plague Of Demons' Illuminati Card Game Card Been Unleashed Upon America Or Is The Nationwide Outbreak Of Demonic Possession Due To 'Hellary'?

Interestingly enough, the 'Illuminati card game' card 'Plague of Demons' shows a 'pack of evil' running rampant in Washington DC. Telling us that the 'power of the attack' is 10 plus the power of the group 'summoning the demons', we're also told that if the 'attack succeeds', the target is 'devastated' or 'completely destroyed'. Is this what Hellary and the demonic globalists have planned for America?

It comes as no surprise to anyone who has been paying attention to what has long been happening to our country that we're now witnessing what some have called an unprecedented outbreak of demonic behavior at the same time as we have an individual in the running for the highest office of the land who is morally and spiritually bankrupt and a pathological liar.

While war crimes charges should be awaiting her, and with American blood all over her hands, someone who many Americans believe is pure evil is the epitome of America's descent into madness today. As we read in today's headlines shared below, an America that has not only 'lost' Gd but has seemingly had a 'plague of demons' unleashed upon US.

Why does this war criminal want World War 3? And MILLIONS of dead Americans?

On the day of a US Veterans 'Commander-in-Chief' forum, the new story from Ray Starmann over at US Defense Watch tells us that the US Military has never gone to DEFCON 1 but under a President Hillary Clinton, that's a very real possibility. As was reported across the alternative media recently (while being totally neglected by the MSM), Hillary recently threatened war with Russia over rumored hacking and cyber security issues. The hacks exposed her crimes had put Americans lives in danger and our national security at risk.

DEMON'S IN ALIENS CLOTHING

http://www.conspiracyarchive.com/UFOs/demons_aliens_clothes.htm

The Mojave Desert in California has its share of military bases involved in "black projects", ranging from research and development of "advanced" aircraft to MKULTRA mind control operations (Edwards AFB, Ft. Irwin, and China Lake Naval Weapons Center). Coincidentally, it was the area where Charles Manson and family resided in the late 1960's. It was also the general location described in the book, Outside the Circle of Time (1980) by Kenneth Grant. A portion of the book states, "John Whiteside Parsons [who specialized in jet propulsion] and L. Ron Hubbard, founder of Scientology [and former Naval Intelligence Officer] were involved in a special project during 1945 and 1946... This special project which was carried out in the California desert, was a part of magical ceremonies [black witchcraft] known as the 'Babylon Working', designed by Aleister Crowley, who died in 1947 [year of the alleged Roswell UFO crash and the implementation of the National Security Act]...

The purpose of the series of ceremonies performed by Parsons and Hubbard was to unseal an interdimensional gateway, that had been sealed in antiquity thereby allowing other dimensional entities known as the 'Old Ones' access to our space/time continuum. The culmination of the ceremonies was reported to have been successful, having resulted in the establishment of 'extra-terrestrial contact'... Crowley left behind a drawing of his invisible mentors or as he called them, 'Secret Chiefs' [spirit guides], entitled LAM. This entity has a very large head on a small body, a pointed chin, and a little slit of a mouth [description compares favorably to the 'Greys'].."

A 'Star Child' Speaks out: I can 'heal water,' calls for society to WAKE UP

<http://www.ancient-code.com/a-star-child-speaks-out-i-can-heal-water-calls-for-society-to-wake-up/>

In recent years, people are starting to think about alien life on a whole other level. Thinking about life, we are coming to accept that it is possible that there are things in the universe that go beyond our current understanding. Life does not have to be physical in order to exist.

While the story might sound fascinating and unbelievable to some, people around the world are convinced that among us live Star Children, and Indigo children.

Star Children

Star children are children who have been sent here from all areas of the Universe to help the earth and the people on it. They possess psychic, spiritual, and other extra sensory abilities. These children will bring peace, topple corrupt systems, and shift dimensional consciousness in the years to come. They have come here on special assignment to assist in this rebirth into a higher dimensional earth.

Star children are different, thank God. As of now, our Star children have been divided into three categories: Indigo, Crystal, and Rainbow. Star children have chosen specific parents who will help them develop their natural abilities. So if you are a parent of a child you know is different, your child probably chose you to help them help others in their spiritual path. How lucky you are to be the chosen parent of one of these incredibly gifted souls here to help this earth.

The most wonderful aspect of Star children is their willingness to take on the world and learn to make their own way through it. Star children will get to the point where they are able to mold society into something that reflects their energies and values. The truth that they hold and defend so well will reflect their integrity and spirituality.

The Indigo Children

Parents often like to feel their children are special. There are have always been psychically gifted children and those who seem to have some power to heal. In this age, channeler named Lee Carroll coined the term Indigo Children allowing parents of children with emotional problems and learning disabilities to feel special when they cannot fit into mainstream.

We now recognize ADD, dyslexia, and other disorders that can be treated. Adults I have met, who grew up with these problems, tell me they wish they had been understood as children and taught in special programs, placed on proper diets, and on needed medication. The depressed child and adult hears voices in their head, can't focus to learn and needs understanding, often becoming lethargic with thoughts of suicide. These 'Indigo Children' were challenged on many levels and now must find themselves as they reach adulthood.

The Crystal Children

It's the same description as the Indigo Children, more updated name. These children are supposedly very psychic and sensitive. These children will be multi-faceted and able to see out of the box, yet must also play and find their way in 3D so they do not become isolated and alone. They too will have issues.

Did you grow up as a Star Child waiting to reunite with your ET family? An Indigo Child, from the Blue Ray and needing help? A Crystal Child with psychic gifts?
This is all the same, higher frequency calling us HOME.

Black Eyed Children - BECs

Hybrid Breeding Program (think Dulce Base in NM)

I don't know much about this subject of black eyed kids. It is demonically creepy so be warned if you are sensitive. However ignorance of this subject is not a good idea as the spiritual war we are in escalates. Even Christians have been confronted by these entities. Personally I don't believe the return of the nephilim in these last days is going to primarily manifested as giants as it was before the flood. From what I have learned I believe there are going to be a host of hellish creatures invading the physical realm and our shadow government is deeply involved in it in their underground bases. They are probably releasing the products of some of their genetic hybridization a little at a time for testing purposes and black eyed kids could be one of these. They may even be interdimensional as some "alien" encounters have proven to be.

<http://calltodiscernment.blogspot.com/2013/04/hybrid-breeding-program.html>

"BECs have, as the name implies, black eyes, completely void of color or light. No pupils, no irises, just dead-looking black eyes. In fact, some witnesses say their eyes seem to be bottomless pools of blackness. These children, typically between the ages of 8 and 16, have very pale skin, some people say it even looks plastic, or artificial, but other than that they look like normal children. Witnesses say they either dress in drab clothes, generally blue jeans and a hoodie, or they wear very old-fashioned, handmade clothing, similar to what Amish people wear. Sometimes they travel in pairs, sometimes in groups and sometimes you'll see just one. Regardless, these BECs seem to evoke an instant feeling of terror. Not just suspicion or even fear. But pure, gut-wrenching...mind-numbing terror."

A cosmic scene with a blue-toned galaxy, a silhouette of a person, and a bright comet streak.

"Weatherly (David Weatherly who has youtubes and books on this subject) postulated that these sinister children could be interdimensional beings that come into our level of existence in order to feed off the energy of fear that they create by their interactions.

Interestingly, one abductee he interviewed said that the Black Eyed Child she encountered was an alien-human hybrid, and she was his mother."

Peter Thiel Is Very, Very Interested in Young People's Blood

The contrarian venture capitalist believes transfusions may hold the key to his dream of living forever.

BY JEFF BERCOVICI San Francisco bureau chief, Inc. @jeffbercovtci

Speaking of weird and unsavory, if there's one thing that really excites Thiel, it's the prospect of having younger people's blood transfused into his own veins.

In Monterey, California, about 120 miles from San Francisco, a company called Ambrosia recently commenced one of the trials. Titled "Young Donor Plasma Transfusion and Age-Related Biomarkers," it has a simple protocol:

Healthy participants aged 35 and older get a transfusion of blood plasma from donors under 25, and researchers monitor their blood over the next two years for molecular indicators of health and aging. The study is patient-funded; participants, who range in age from late 30s through 80s, must pay $8,000 to take part, and live in or travel to Monterey for treatments and follow-up assessments.

There are widespread rumors in Silicon Valley, where life-extension science is a popular obsession, that various wealthy individuals from the tech world have already begun practicing parabiosis, spending tens of thousands of dollars for the procedures and young-person-blood, and repeating the exercise several times a year. In our April 2015 interview, Thiel was seemingly explicit that parabiosis was something he hadn't "quite, quite, quite started yet." A Thiel Capital spokesman said nothing had changed since then.

Peter Thiel

The billionaire co-founder of PayPal (PYPL ▲ 0.65%) says he wants to live to 120 years old. The 48-year-old has invested millions in companies trying to make that happen. Thiel gave anti-aging researcher Aubrey de Grey $3.5 million to start the Methuselah Foundation, a non-profit that is focused on uncovering promising life-extension therapies. He's also made strategic investments through his venture capital firm Founders Fund into at least 14 health and biotech companies that are focused on extending life through regenerative medicine.

Bill Maris

"If you ask me today, is it possible to live to be 500? The answer is yes," Maris told Bloomberg Markets.

Maris, 41, is the president and managing partner of Google Ventures and has used his position to make investments in companies that can slow aging, improve longevity, and possibly reverse disease.

In 2015, he'd invested 36% of the fund's assets, which total nearly $2 billion, in life sciences. "If given the choice between making a lot of money or finding a way to make people live longer," he told Bloomberg, "what do you choose?"

Martine Rothblatt

Rothblatt, 61, is taking a unique approach to the anti-aging trend. Rather than keeping humans alive in their current bodily forms, she believes that immortality could come through a unique blend of technology and biology. The founder of Sirius Satellite Radio and CEO of United Therapeutics (UTHR ▼ -0.24%) is betting that one of the first stages in this process may be uploading the "data" of a human brain into a software program, essentially keeping their being alive in a different, high-tech form.

Peter Thiel's blood harvesting was tried by the Soviets a century ago

It sounds like the stuff of science fiction, because it is. The Russian novelist and scientist Alexander Bogdanov wrote about parabiosis in his 1908 novel Red Star, in which a socialist hero travels to Mars and discovers that the collectivized Martian population is using blood transfusion to cheat death.

In 1926, he set about realizing his futuristic vision as the new head of a Soviet institute for blood transfusion research. "Blood transfusions have enormous scientific and social import," he wrote in a newspaper article announcing the new center. According to Nikolai Krementsov's detailed biography, Bogdanov hoped to bring about a society defined by "physiological collectivism," and began experimenting with transfusion as early as 1923.

After performing 11 transfusions on himself, he remarked upon "the improvement of his eyesight, suspension of balding, and other positive symptoms." His 12th transfusion, however, proved fatal, after he used the blood of a student sick with malaria. Bogdanov was still in his early 50s

Coincidence: Kansas Kids Mysteriously Ill...In the Same Town as the Forthcoming DHS Bio-Safety Level 4 Lab

<http://www.dcclothesline.com/2016/09/15/coincidence-kansas-kids-mysteriously-ill-in-the-same-town-as-the-forthcoming-dhs-bio-safety-level-4-lab/>

Manhattan, Kansas is in the news due to a mysterious illness sweeping through schools and making hundreds of children ill.

Symptoms include the necessity to go home due to stomach issues like nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. At first, officials thought it was norovirus (highly contagious stomach flu). Indeed, the media reports and officials were certain it was norovirus and a major outbreak had practically downed a Nevada school last year. However, as the sickness continues, this idea has been abandoned even though it spreads in a similar manner.

As sorry as I feel for the children involved, this type of mystery illness is nothing to what may be waiting for them in the future due to the last reason that Manhattan, Kansas made headlines.

Although it isn't due to be fully operational by 2023, this same town is the controversial new site for the Bio-Safety Level 4 research facility that was formerly stationed off the US Mainland to keep an incident that reads like something from Stephen King's book, The Stand, from happening.

A few years ago, the Department of Homeland Security decided that the best thing they could do with the Plum Island Research Facility was to move it from its relatively isolated location, off the tip of Long Island, New York, to Manhattan Kansas. Because it wasn't bad enough to deliberately mess around with deadly germs and viruses off the shores of the mainland.

In late May of 2015, ground was broken for the new National Bio and Agro-Defense Facility:

“The new facility will focus biosafety level 3 agriculture (BSL-3Ag) research on dangerous livestock diseases such as African swine fever and foot-and-mouth disease (FMD) and will focus its BSL-4 research on such deadly pathogens as the Hendra and Nipah viruses, which are zoonotic pathogens that can be transmitted from animals to humans and for which no treatment is available.”

MANHATTAN KANSAS – A UNIVERSITY TOWN – AND ONLY 56 MILES TO TOPEKA...

In addition to the threat to the food supply should something like Foot and Mouth Disease escape from the lab, the risk to the inhabitants of Manhattan should one of these deadly pathogens escape is incredibly high. The primary host of Nipah virus in the United States would be pigs.

According to the USDA, there were almost 2 million hogs in Kansas as of March this year. What could possibly go wrong? Humans can contract Nipah from infected pigs. If they do, encephalitis develops and supportive care is given until recovery or death occurs. That's it. There's nothing else you can do. Human-to-human transmission has been reported in every outbreak. The CDC has a full overview of Nipah virus.

Signs and Symptoms

Signs & Symptoms

Infection with Nipah virus is associated with encephalitis (inflammation of the brain). After exposure and an incubation period of 5 to 14 days, illness presents with 3-14 days of fever and headache, followed by drowsiness, disorientation and mental confusion. These signs and symptoms can progress to coma within 24-48 hours. Some patients have a respiratory illness during the early part of their infections, and half of the patients showing severe neurological signs showed also pulmonary signs.

Risk of Exposure

During the Nipah virus disease outbreak in 1998-99, 265 patients were infected with the virus. About 40% of those patients who entered hospitals with serious nervous disease died from the illness.

Diagnosis

Treatment

Long-term sequelae following Nipah virus infection have been noted, including persistent convulsions and personality changes.

Prevention

Nipah Virus Distribution Map

Latent infections with subsequent reactivation of Nipah virus and death have also been reported months and even years after exposure.

Resources

In the Malaysia and Singapore outbreak, Nipah virus infection was associated with close contact with Nipah virus-infected pigs. In Bangladesh and India, where Nipah virus infection is more frequent, exposure has been linked to consumption of raw date palm sap and contact with bats. Importantly, human-to-human transmission has been documented and exposure to other Nipah virus infected individuals is also a risk factor.

Hendra virus (HeV) is a member of the family Paramyxoviridae and one of two virus species in the genus Henipavirus (the other being Nipah virus). HeV was first isolated in 1994 from specimens obtained during an outbreak of respiratory and neurologic disease in horses and humans in Hendra, a suburb of Brisbane, Australia.

The natural reservoir for Hendra virus has since been identified as the flying fox (bats of the genus Pteropus).

Since 1994 and as of 2013, Hendra virus infections in humans remain rare; only seven cases have been reported.

After an incubation of 9-16 days, infection with Hendra virus can lead to respiratory illness with severe flu-like signs and symptoms. In some cases, illness may progress to encephalitis.

Although infection with Hendra virus is rare, the case fatality is high: 4/7 (57%).

This WOULD happen if humans
DISAPPEARED from EARTH

A dramatic, blue-toned image of Earth from space. A bright lightning bolt strikes the top of the globe. The background is filled with dark, swirling clouds.

If all of a sudden mankind vanished from the surface of planet Earth, changes would happen within HOURS.

In fact, in just a couple of hours after, lights around the globe would go out since power plants would run out of fuel, and solar panels would become covered by dirt. The only power plants running would be those powered by hydroelectric energy.

Domesticated animals and those on farms would leave their prison in search for food.

Lice would become extinct.

A dramatic scene of the US Capitol building on fire. The building is partially obscured by large, intense orange and yellow flames. In the upper left, a large, glowing orange sphere, possibly a meteor or a nuclear explosion, is visible against a dark, cloudy sky. Several bright white streaks, likely falling satellites, are seen against the dark sky. The overall atmosphere is one of catastrophic disaster.

Around one month after humans disappeared from the planet, the cooling water in nuclear power plants would evaporate. This would lead to a series of disasters around the world, even stronger than Fukushima and Chernobyl.

A year after humans disappeared from Earth, satellites orbiting Earth would start falling from their orbits, creating fascinating yet strange 'falling skies' visible from the surface of the planet.

Some twenty-five years after, vegetation would cover the surface of the globe, while some cities would be buried beneath thick layers of sand. The Panama Canal disappears by the advance of the vegetation, and the Americas have reunited again. Vegetables degrade to a phase where they become inedible. (That would be thanks to Monsatan)

One hundred years after mankind vanished from Earth all animals considered as endangered species recover their population to the original number before the evolution of human beings. Their distribution, however, will be much different since it was humans who migrated them to different areas.

Three hundred years after, buildings made of metal, bridges, and towers would start deteriorating and crumble due to corrosion.

(I think it will be a lot sooner than 300 years since it's already happening)

Five hundred years after, city suburbs will be invaded by forests. Trees and vegetation will begin to grow between the remains of dishes, kitchen appliances, aluminum and stainless steel.

Chernobyl happened in 1986 – this is before and after, thinking it's taking a LOT less than 500 years for Forests, Trees and Vegetation to begin to overtake man's creations.

Enoch 45:2-6 They shall not ascend to heaven, and they shall not come on the earth. Such shall be the lot of the sinners who have denied the name of Yahuah of spirits, who are preserved for the day of suffering and tribulation. On that day My Elect One shall sit on the throne of honor and shall try the works of the righteous, and their places of rest shall be innumerable. And their souls shall grow strong within them when they see My Elect One, and those who have called on My esteemed name. Then I will cause My Elect One to dwell among them. I will transform heaven and make it an eternal blessing and light, and I will transform the earth and make it a blessing, and I will cause My elect ones to dwell on it. And the sinners and evildoers shall not set foot on it. For I have seen and satisfied My righteous ones with peace and have caused them to dwell before Me, but for the sinners there is judgment impending with Me, so that I shall destroy them from the face of the earth.
