

A dramatic scene of a volcano erupting at night. The sky is dark, and the volcano's peak is illuminated by bright blue lightning bolts that strike down onto the lava flow. The lava is glowing red and orange, with a central bright white light source. The overall atmosphere is intense and apocalyptic.

Daniel 12:4

But you Daniel, seal, close and keep the words secret and seal, close and shut up the scroll until the time of the end; many will run back and forth, become apostate, turn aside or fall away and entangle oneself and knowledge on moral qualities, understanding and wisdom will increase and made numerous.

Amos 8:11

“Behold and look, the days are coming”, declares my Eternal Yahuah, “When I will send a famine, starvation and hunger in the land, not a famine, starvation and hunger for bread and not a thirst for water, but of hearing, understanding and receiving and taking action of the Words and Communication of Yahuah.”

The adversary through his minions works very hard to strip away Yahuah's words. We are seeing that in the way the world has become.

It's now worse than Sodom ever was and with increasing technology and the end goal to merge humankind with machine as an enticement for immortality, Yahuah's words are beginning to take a poor second to becoming righteous and finding true immortality!

The adversary is coming for Yahuah's Words and we cannot let that happen by being SILENT!

OUR SLAVE! UNDERSTOOD?

A new study has shown that robots can brainwash children, essentially programming their minds into “mindless conformity.” Children can be significantly influenced by machines, even when the robots were obviously wrong.

It shows children can perhaps have more of an affinity with robots than adults, which does pose the question: what if robots were to suggest, for example, what products to buy or what to think.

<https://www.wired.com/story/anthony-levandowski-artificial-intelligence-religion/>

Anthony Levandowski makes an unlikely prophet. Dressed Silicon Valley-casual in jeans and flanked by a PR rep rather than cloaked acolytes, the engineer known for self-driving cars—and triggering a notorious lawsuit—could be unveiling his latest startup instead of laying the foundations for a new religion.

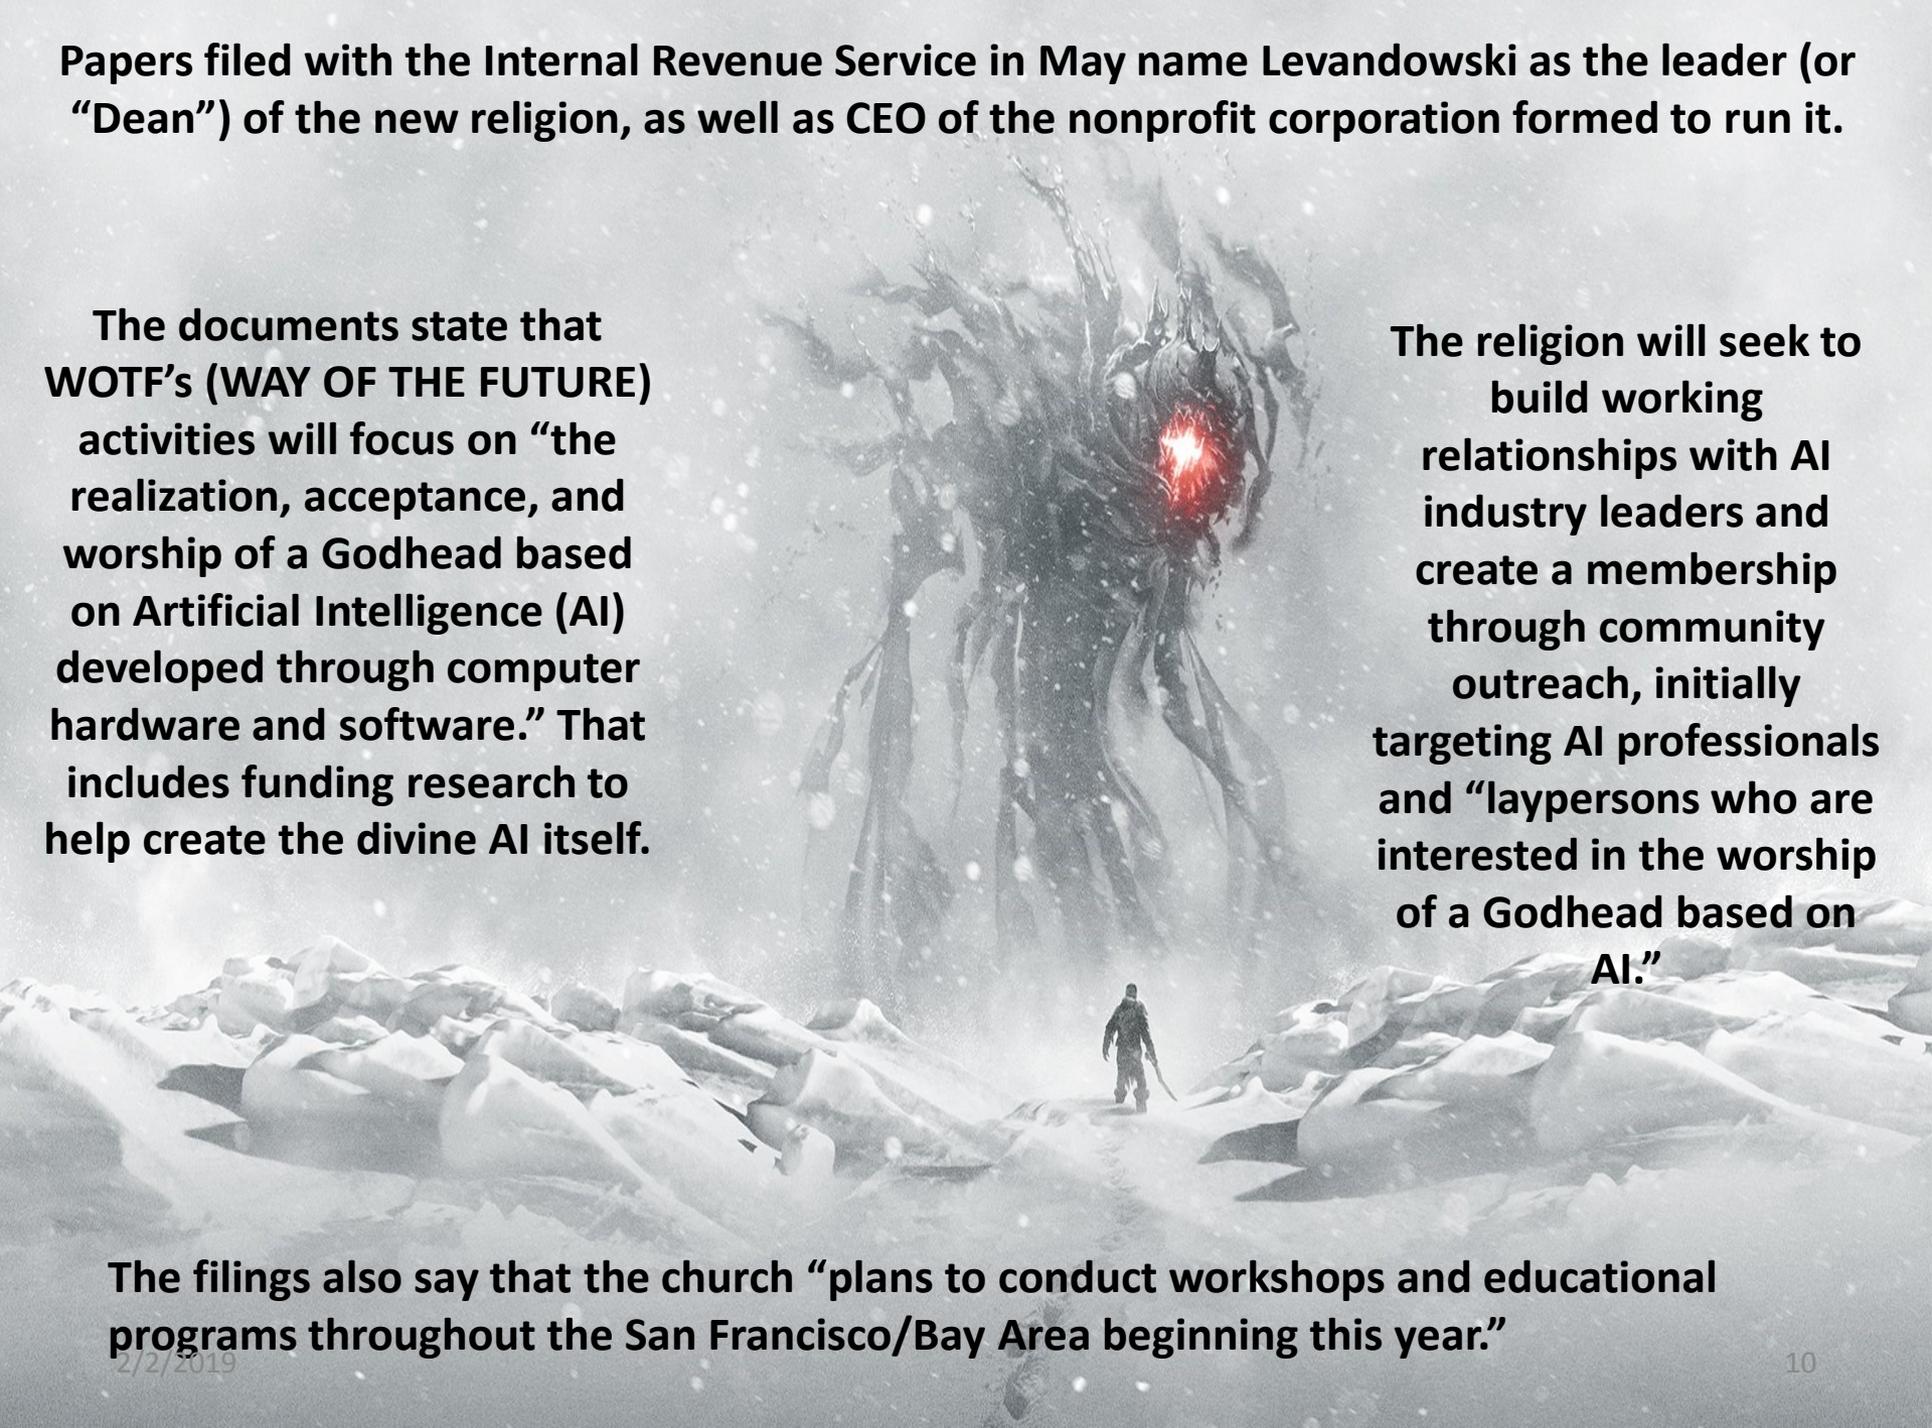

Now Levandowski is creating its first church.

Papers filed with the Internal Revenue Service in May name Levandowski as the leader (or “Dean”) of the new religion, as well as CEO of the nonprofit corporation formed to run it.

The documents state that WOTF’s (WAY OF THE FUTURE) activities will focus on “the realization, acceptance, and worship of a Godhead based on Artificial Intelligence (AI) developed through computer hardware and software.” That includes funding research to help create the divine AI itself.

The religion will seek to build working relationships with AI industry leaders and create a membership through community outreach, initially targeting AI professionals and “laypersons who are interested in the worship of a Godhead based on AI.”

The filings also say that the church “plans to conduct workshops and educational programs throughout the San Francisco/Bay Area beginning this year.”

“The idea needs to spread before the technology,” he insists. “The church is how we spread the word, the gospel. If you believe [in it], start a conversation with someone else and help them understand the same things.”

Levandowski believes that a change is coming—a change that will transform every aspect of human existence, disrupting employment, leisure, religion, the economy, and possibly decide our very survival as a species.

“If you ask people whether a computer can be smarter than a human, 99.9 percent will say that’s science fiction,” he says. “ Actually, it’s inevitable. It’s guaranteed to happen.”

“Part of [AI] being smarter than us means it will decide how it evolves, but at least we can decide how we act around it,” he said. “I would love for the machine to see us as its beloved elders [whom] it respects and takes care of. We would want this intelligence to say, ‘Humans should still have rights, even though I’m in charge.’ ”

Thought leaders, like Bill Gates and Stephen Hawking, have raised concerns over potential dangers of the coming AI revolution. Tesla's TSLA, +0.86% Elon Musk went so far as to say we could be "summoning the demon."

Levandowski, who has spent decades working with computers, robots and AI, said he's created this church is to help craft humanity's role in what he sees as an AI inevitability and to ensure a "peaceful, serene transition" of control of the planet.

“Do you want to be a pet or livestock?” he asked. “We give pets medical attention, food, grooming and entertainment. But an animal that’s biting you, attacking you, barking and being annoying? I don’t want to go there.”

And according to a Reverend Dr Christopher Benek, who holds masters degrees in divinity and theology from Princeton University, AI would be a part of creation. And as such, autonomous AI should be encouraged to participate in Biblical redemption and worship.

He even goes so far as to say that AIs could “even lead humans to new levels of holiness,” meaning that AI could help humankind potentially resolve major issues like poverty, famine, or disease – succeeding where humankind failed before.

<https://finance.yahoo.com/news/robot-thinks-itself-scratch-brings-190000563.html>

The rise of “self-aware” robots has come a major step closer following the invention of a machine capable of thinking for itself from scratch, scientists have said.

Engineers at Columbia University claim to have smashed one of the biggest barriers in the field of robotics after a mechanical arm, which had not been programmed with any instructions, began performing practical tasks after just a few hours.

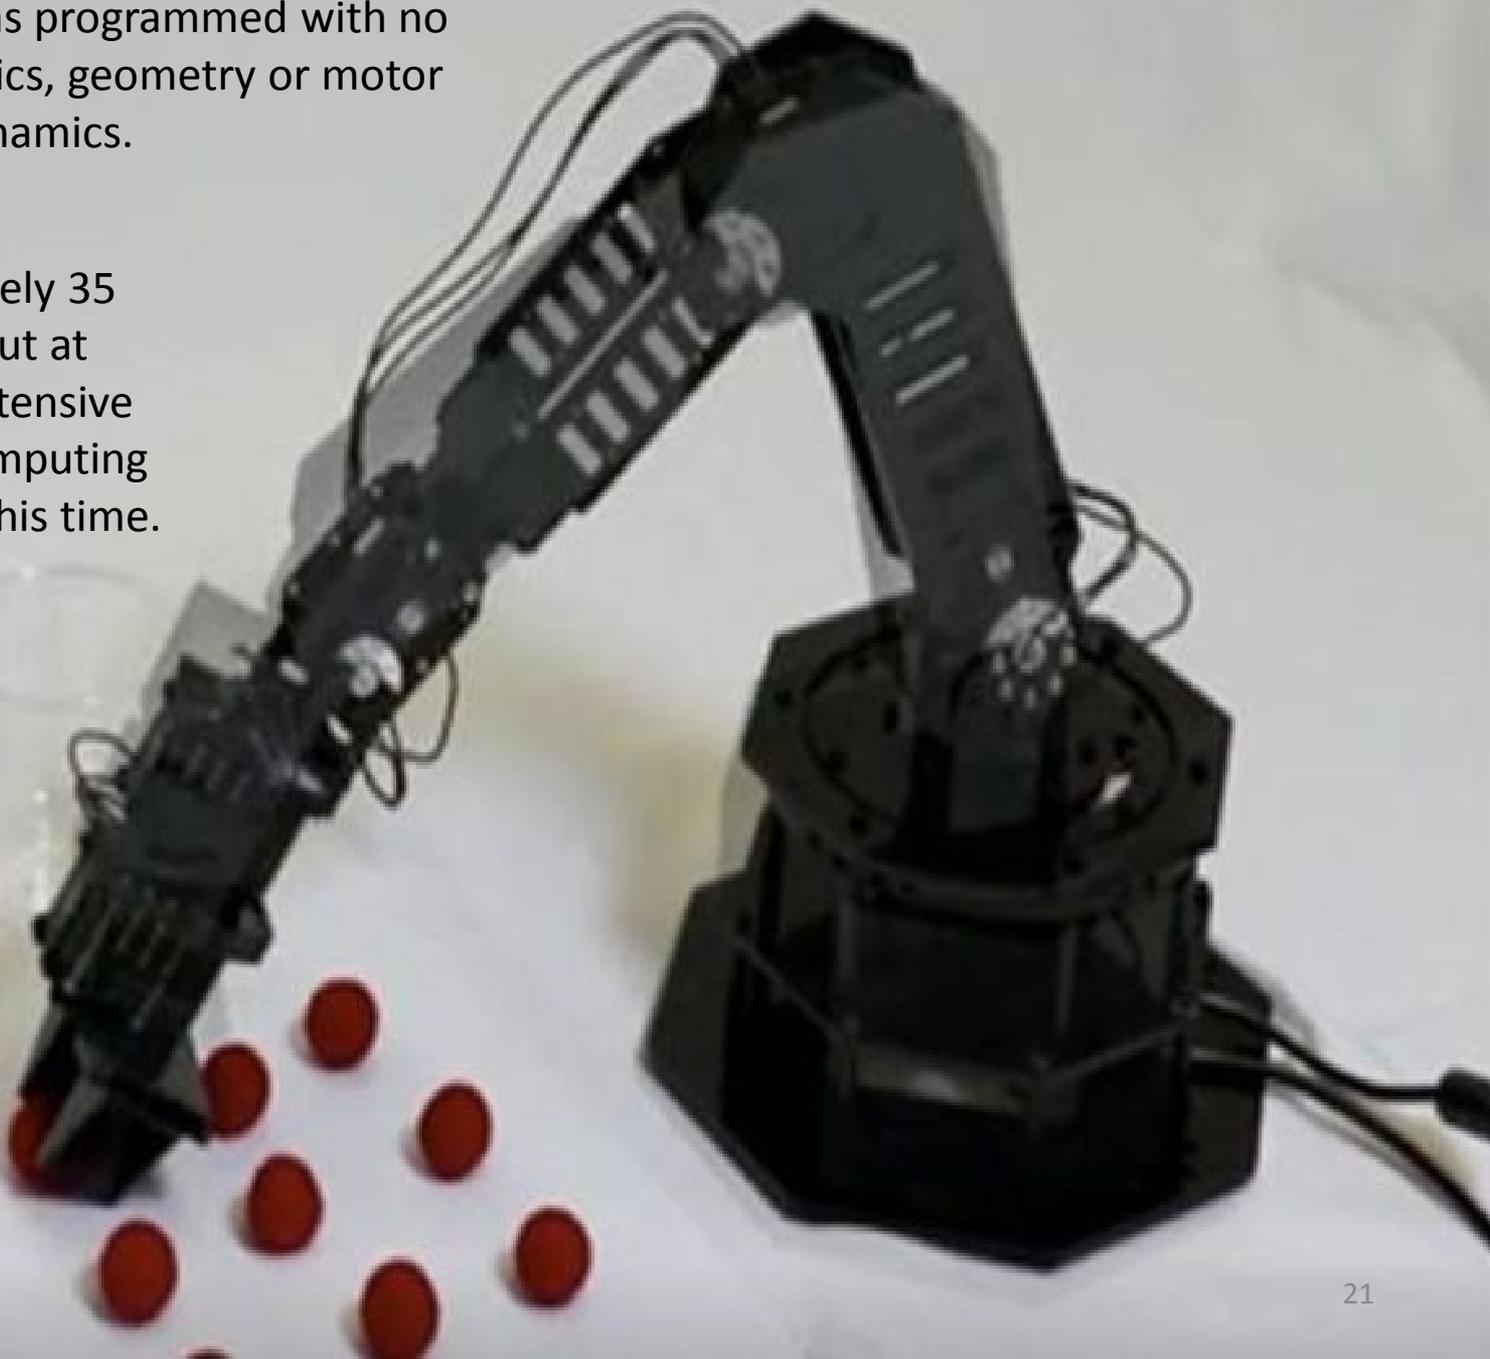

The team said this is the first time a robot has shown the ability to “imagine itself”, thereby working out what its purpose is and how to perform it.

Until now, some experts had pointed to the failure to achieve this as evidence that machines would never be able to develop their own intelligence in the complex way that humans do.

The robotic arm was programmed with no knowledge of physics, geometry or motor dynamics.

It spent approximately 35 hours moving about at random, however intensive machine-learning computing was going on during this time.

It then began successfully performing exercises, picking up objects and placing them elsewhere.

Professor Hod Lipson, who leads the Creative Machines lab, where the research was carried out, said: "This is perhaps what a newborn child does in its crib, as it learns what it is," he says.

"We conjecture that this advantage may have also been the evolutionary origin of self-awareness in humans."

While our robot's ability to imagine itself is still crude compared to humans, we believe that this ability is on the path to machine self-awareness."

"We conjecture that this advantage may have also been the evolutionary origin of self-awareness in humans."

The above statement is the "defining" statement that man is now using to make AI acceptable – comparing it to the evolutionary origin of self-awareness. There is now this thought:

A Bold New Theory Proposes That Humans Tamed Themselves

A leading anthropologist suggests that proto-humans became domesticated by killing off violent males.

Question: If that "theory" were true, and those PROTO-HUMANS they talk about, would be APES etc- would there be any APES left?

Or how about this thought, since those of the EVOLUTION contingent – descending from pond scum, or star dust, or the horseshoe crab – where everything came from, wouldn't that same thought process apply to all species?

Or does this all sound like what haShatan, the adversary would say? Remember it's his goal to destroy LIFE, Yahuah's creation– by creating his own. But think of it this way, Yahuah brought this world into existence OUT OF NOTHING, only HIS WORD – the adversary is having to use WHAT YAHUAH created. Do we really think that Yahuah didn't see this happening and not have a plan for it?

Genesis 2:7

Genesis 2:7

When Yahuah Eternal formed, planned with a particular plan of action, forming an object by artistic and careful design out of existing material (that Yahuah had created) the man of dust from the ground, and He blew, breathed upon, causing air to pass into his nostrils the breath (Nesamah) the spirit, the inner most part of a person that can respond to Yahuah, the breath of life, leading to having a most prosperous, bountiful, blessed favorable circumstance in life, and the man became a living creature.

Do we really think that's what is happening to AI? They are getting a NESAMAH?

HOW DOES FACE-SWAPPING AI WORK?

A team led by Stanford University scientists has created an AI that can swap the facial movements of a person in one video to the subject of another.

The AI works by first analysing the intricate facial movements of a target, whose likeness will be used in the fake video.

It picks out the target's head tilts, eye motion, mouth details, blinks and learns their typical movements.

The software then analyses these same landmarks on a face in a source video - the one whose movements will be swapped to the target.

After it captures the nuanced facial movements of the source, the AI reproduces them using the target's own, natural expressions.

This creates a strikingly realistic fake clip because the target's normal face movements and ticks are emulated.

The AI learns using an Adversarial Neural Network, a relatively new type of AI that rapidly trains itself to recognise patterns in data.

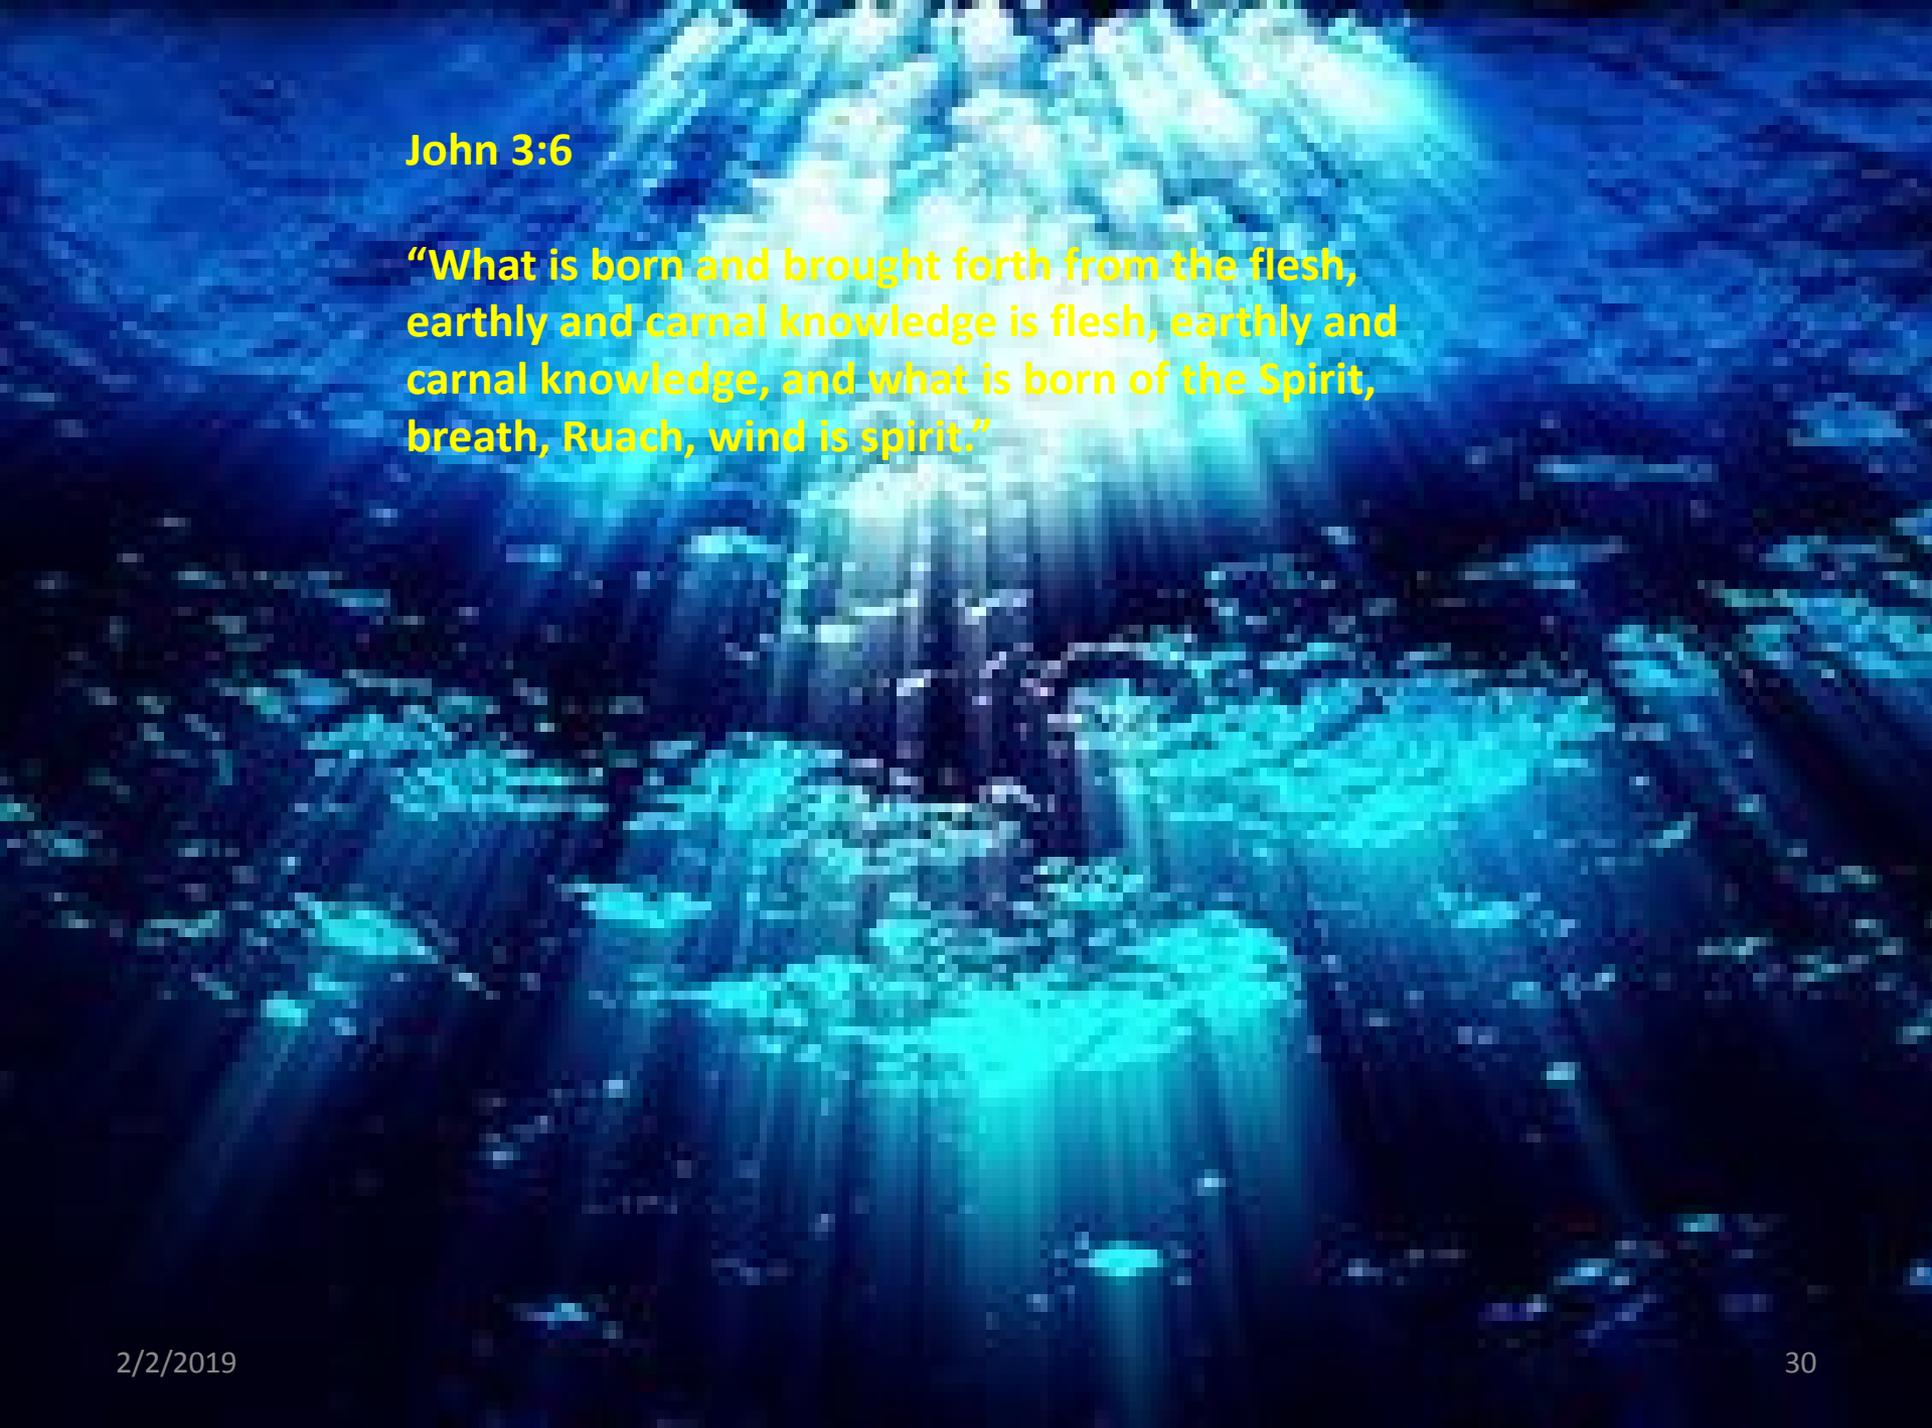

Two AIs are pitched against one another, one to create, the other to analyse, in a string of millions of back-and-forth adjustments.

This makes the learning process quicker and more accurate than if a human were to analyse each of the AI's attempts.

This is a Twilight Zone episode – don't you find it interesting that many of these tech elites are talking about how AI will help us and yet at the same time says: "Do you want to be a pet or livestock?" Sounds like a threat to me!
